

Expectations

Three Expectations Message

“Hallway Conversations”

High School Mathematics

WITHOUT RBT ANALYSIS

Script	Comments
Mr. H: You’ve got the power to influence the entire class positively, or....the other way. Student: My teachers always tell me that. Mr. H: Well, do you believe it or no? [Student: laughs.] Mr. H: OK. So that’s what I really want to see from you today. You’ve got the power...and it would be a shame. You see this is the thing. You’re doing great in this class. You’re getting great grades and seem to be understanding the stuff. ’Cause you focus for like three minutes and you get it. That’s not the case for everybody. So you could really use your influence, your personality, how people respect you to really make this a great class for a lot more people. Cool? Excellent. I look forward to it. Mr. H: So we’re going to be working today on a little more focusing, right? Student: Yeah, super-focused. Mr. H: Great...Excellent. Looking forward to it...good work. Mr. H: What’s up LaToya? So, remember, I want you to keep your group on task today. You know what I’m saying? Student: Yeah. Mr. H: You gotta help out. Welcome... Student: You didn’t... Mr. H: I know, I know. Janice...let me talk to you real quick.

Student: Can I go to the bathroom?

Mr. H: If you are back before the bell.

Mr. H: So remember what we talked about yesterday?

Student: Yeah.

Mr. H: And I know you're not doing anything wrong. She might be interpreting it a little bit like, "Where is this coming from?" You just gotta be aware of—hey, how you doing?—be aware of how that might be interpreted, alright? I'm looking for...I think you guys are going to have a great day. I think you guys are going to have a great day.

Student: You're late.

Mr. H: Welcome, how are you doing?

Student: Good.

Mr. H: Great.

